Fund Manager's Report

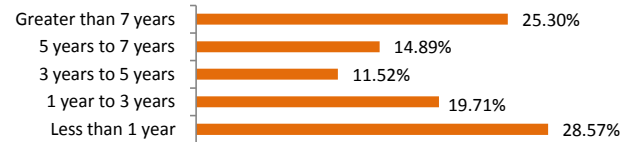

The month of August witnessed subdued trading ahead of the FOMC decision in September. Yields were higher across the curve with liquid tenors on the 20 and 25 year bonds up 50 basis points from previous month's levels. The newly issued RTB 10-4 was seen trading at 3.36% before going back to par.

Even as July Inflation came out lower than expected at 2.5% and Philippine GDP growing at 7.5% pace in the 2nd quarter (vs. 7.7% previous quarter), the local market gauged movements in US treasuries and players stayed mostly defensive on the sidelines as thin liquidity was in play.
